Kansas City's Private-Sector Employers

Ranked by Local FTE employees

Locally Researched by: Andrew Vaupel, Kansas City Business Journal Jul 23, 2021, 5:00am CDT

Editor's Note: The Private-Sector Employers List is the closest thing to a census of area employers that we produce. While we previously focused much of our energy on the top 100 employers, which is what you'll see in our Weekly Edition, this year's List is much, much more.

The Kansas City Business Journal has taken the notion of a census to heart and published an extended online List with the results from every organization that responded to our survey — and some that didn't, too.

The online List also offers readers additional pieces of information that couldn't fit in the fixed width of the Weekly Edition.

Despite the sometimes confusing term "private-sector," this List includes almost every type of entity (public companies, private companies, nonprofits and even subsidiaries of private or public companies). The only exclusions from the List are government or quasigovernmental entities, which are covered by next week's Public-Sector Employers List.

If you spot a company or nonprofit that should have been included, please contact me.

Information on The List was obtained through Kansas City Business Journal research or supplied by individual companies through questionnaires that KCBJ could not independently verify. In case of ties, companies are listed alphabetically.
